go, evo or pro. Invest in the best maintenance plan for your production.

Packaging and leaflets, whether for transporting and protecting goods or providing consumers with important information, are relevant products when it comes to supplying the population with critical items, as the current situation has demonstrated.

Packaging and consumer goods manufacturers invest in productive and reliable equipment to meet this demand.

Safeguarding your investment

Whether you need to put spare parts on the shelf or want kits for planned preventative maintenance, Baumer hhs has multiple ways to keep your machines running.

Baumer hhs maintenance kits

To help safeguard your production needs, Baumer hhs has created maintenance kits designed for you. Based on years of customer usage experience, these kits contain the recommended parts based on your industry and operating parameters.

Maintenance intervals

The kits reflect our philosophy, meaning they contain only those spare parts that need to be replaced depending on the application and service life – no more, no less. Adapted to your intensity of use, they are required for maintenance once a specified number of operating hours has been exceeded or at the latest when the specified service life ends.

Maintenance kit: go

For annual maintenance or after 4,000 operating hours

Maintenance kit: evo

Every two years or after 8,000 operating hours

Maintenance kit: pro

Every four years or after 16,000 operating hours

We support your maintenance activities

Preventative maintenance kits from Baumer hhs provides you a means to keep your production uptime up. Kits included simple instructions so work can be completed quickly and easily. Keep needed spare parts on the shelf or order kits for your next equipment maintenance. Use the service date sticker to visually remind you when last service or spare part was installed. Baumer hhs service techs can be available in person or by phone to assist. Just make an appointment or give us a call.

We are both essential business. Let's stick together and keep your production up and running.

Baumer hhs is here for you.
